

Suspension Strap Training

at Shallyn's Physical Therapy and Wellness Services

Many people know suspension strap training as “TRX”, the brand that brought suspension strap training to the general public.

What suspension strap training is: a suspended, adjustable strap that allows one to use his or her's own body weight to perform different exercises.

Uses include: improved balance, core stability, strength and flexibility.